DEBRA FREEMAN, United States Magistrate Judge:

Whereas, in the above-captioned action, defendants New York State Court Officers Association and Dennis Quirk subpoenaed Todd Taylor, a non-party witness, for a deposition, which was conducted on June 27, 2008; and whereas, during the deposition, Mr. Taylor testified that certain New York State court personnel had previously discriminated against him in his employment, but refused to answer questions calling for him to identify these individuals by name; and whereas Mr. Taylor's attorney did not assert a claim of privilege or instruct Mr. Taylor not to answer these questions; and whereas there is no dispute among the parties as to the relevance of the information sought; and whereas defendants New York State Court Officers Association and Dennis Quirk now request that the Court compel Mr. Taylor to answer the questions posed; it is hereby ORDERED that Mr. Taylor show cause by August 14, 2008, why this Court should not enforce the subpoena by directing him to answer the questions posed at his deposition, seeking the identities of the court personnel who previously discriminated against him, upon penalty of contempt if he continues to refuse to do so.
